JUDGMENT

The report of the learned Magistrate shows, and the learned counsel for the petitioner confirms, that the case has already been committed to the court of session by the learned Magistrate on 26/2/07. The precise relief claimed has now become infructuous. The learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the learned Sessions Judge, Pathanamthitta, may also be directed to expeditiously dispose of the case committed to it. I need only observe that it will be appropriate for the learned Sessions Judge to dispose of the sessions case with expedition. No further directions are necessary.

2. This writ petition, in these circumstances, dismissed with the above observations.
